Bivin Will Play Title Role In Student Play Febr. 11, 12

Susan Bivin has been chosen to play the title part in the University Player's next production, 'Joan of Lorraine.'

Rehearsals for the Maxwell Anderson play, which will be presented the evenings of February 11 and 12, started Monday.

Dr. Edwin L. Clark, head of the Dramatics Department, in announcing the cast of 17 males and five female parts, said nine of the cast have never appeared before in a University production.

He explained that because the situation is a play within a play, each actor has two names. One is the actor's name, and the other is the character's name in 'Joan.' Both acts are set on a stage of a theater with the cast in rehearsal.

Miss Bivin plays the part of actress Mary Gray and Joan of Arc. This is her first appearance on the stage for University Players, but she had four years of acting experience at Benson High School.

Blocker Gains Male Lead

Playing the male lead of the Director and the Inquisitor will be Don Blocker. He has appeared in 'Tobias and the Angel,' and John Loves Mary.

The supporting cast also includes many veterans of the boards. John Mitchell, who plays the part of Jefferson and Georges de Tremouille, is a veteran of eight University productions.

Pat Lemmers plays Sheppard and Alain Chartier. He has appeared in four productions. The Dauphin and Ward is played by Warren Hopson. He acted in two of last year's productions, 'Dark of the Moon' and 'Brigadoon.'

Another actor, who played in two of last year's plays, 'Winter's Tale' and 'Brigadoon,' will play Abby and Jacques d'Arc. He is Jim Dubois. And the male lead in 'The Heiress,' Hugh Allen, will play Dunois and Long.

Actors Play Two Parts

The rest of the play cast and the parts each play are: Becky Chartier, Marie the costumer; Betty Ellsworth, Sadler and St. Margaret; Pat Norman, Reeves and St. Catherine, and Jackie Pederson, Tessie and Aurore.

Others are Dave Drittler, Al the Stage Manager; Jerry Emery, Champlain and Father Massieu; Tom Finley, Farwell and Jean de Metz; Jerry Larson, Garder and Poulengy, Don McKeen, Smith and Courcelles; Bob Morris, Elling and Laxart; Jack Moskovitz, Kipner, Chartres and Rheims; Ed Oathout, vet; Brad Pence, Noble and Lahire; Cordwell, St. Michael and D'Esti-Houghton Reed, Dollner and Pierre d'Arc and Bob Morris, Elling and Laxart.

Lounge To Assume New Look Febr. 1

If new furniture arrives in time, the Student Lounge will be completely redecorated by Febr. 1.

Miss Margaret Killian, head of the redecoration sub-committee of the Center planning committee, said the Lounge will be arranged in "conversational groupings."

The furniture, including sectionals, occasional chairs, end tables and coffee tables, will be placed to give a homelike atmosphere.

Plans also call for new draperies, light fixtures, brass and glass lamps and scatter rugs. The walls will be painted neutral gray. Furniture covering will include fabrics of knobby-textured nylon and naugahide, a plastic similar to imitation leather.

Student members of the sub-committee are Jim Erixon, Student Council, and Joan Willey, Panhellenic.

Three Travel Tours Being Planned

Three travel tours will be conducted this summer by the University Summer Sessions office.

Two European tours will leave Montreal, Canada, June 21. Conducting one tour will be Miss Margaret Killian, professor of home economics and head of the department. The eight-country tour through England, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, France and Austria, will cost $1,129. Travel will be first class with long stops in each place.

Miss Eileen Wolfe, University graduate and Technical High School instructor, will head the second tour through five countries for $995. Miss Wolfe's tour is for students only; Miss Killian's is open to students and adults.

Dr. Christopher Espinosa, head of foreign languages, will head a Caribbean trip through Cuba, Haiti, Jamaica and the Dominican Republic during August. Cost of the trip is $470.

All tours will have an additional sum for three class credits.

Test Schedule Begins Today

Students who have not yet registered may do so from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Jan. 31. Approximately 1,300 students had completed registration Wednesday.

KWOJ Sells Auditions

Auditions for additional members on the KWOJ radio staff will be from 9:30 to 11 a. m. and 1 to 3 p. m. Febr. 7, 9 and 10 in Room 310.

Five announcer positions are available on the staff. Persons interested in engineering should apply.

Stay Alive in 1955 . . .

The skeleton rattling around in the bookstore window is not a leftover Halloween decoration. It is used this week to advertise National Safety Week.

There is also a huge scroll in the center hall which says, "I pledge to stay alive in 1955." If enough students sign the national pledge, it will be given to the Omaha Safety Council.

Posters of cartoons are in some classrooms, and there is a large window display on second floor.

Dean of Students Jay B. MacGregor believes the displays have "excited a lot of interest, and I am in favor of anything that will dramatize the situation we're in and will persuade persons to drive in a way to preserve himself and the other fellow."

Tom Brock, director of men's physical education, is chairman of the OU drive.

Olsen To Direct Spring Paper Staff

Gateway Editor . . . Jo Olsen

Jo Olsen will head the staff of the second semester Gateway. She succeeds Bill Beindorff, present Gateway Editor. Her appointment as editor-in-chief of the student newspaper was announced this week by Clifford Ellis, head of the Journalism Department and Gateway advisor. The Board of Student Publications approved the appointment last week.

Journalism Major

Miss Olsen is a senior majoring in journalism and psychology. She is rush chairman of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, public information officer of the Angels' Flight and vice-president of the Press Club. Other activities include membership in Wookiya, senior women's leadership honorary and staff membership on OU's radio station, KWOJ.

Right behind her as managing editor will be Betty Ellsworth. Miss Ellsworth served as news editor on the paper the past semester.

Keith McMillan will take over the copy desk and Marcia Miller will head the proof desk.

New Page Editors

Paul Conrad will assume the duties of photo editor, and Jeanne Barton is morgue editor.

Members of the business staff include Chuck French, business manager and Jerry Fricke, circulation manager. George Johnston heads the advertising staff.

The first issue of the Gateway under the new staff is scheduled for Febr. 11.

Marcia Morris Star In Student TV Play; 'Voice of Machines'

"Voice of the Machines" by Ken Parker will be presented on the first student TV play of the year on Doors of Knowledge at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow. OU's advanced production class is in charge of the half-hour WOW-TV show. Dick May is student director.

Marcia Morris will play the lead in this suspense-type presentation. Other participants are Park Ames, Don Blocker, Ronald Clausen, Robert Dvorak, Wayne Helgesen and Phil Kraus. Gother are Pat Lemmers, Jack Moskovitz, Pat Norman, Doug Postlewait, Judy Rogers and John Welch.

Assistant director is Donna Rasgorshek. Jackie Pedersen is stage manager, and Dean Short will direct sound and music. The entire production class will act as stage and makeup crew.

Dr. Bruce Linton, head of the speech and radio department, hopes this short play will be as successful as last year's presentation of "Line of Duty."

New Students To Meet

An assembly will be held for all new and transfer students at 10 a. m. Jan. 31 in Room 438. There will be a welcome and announcements concerning traffic regulations, Student Handbook and orientation program.

Finals begin today! Regular classes will resume at 8 a. m. Febr. 1.

Panel To Give Two Talks

The Panel of Americans will appear before two Omaha groups during February. The Panel will speak Febr. 8 at Benson High School and at the United Presbyterian Church Febr. 18. Professor Al Sugarman, debate and speech department, and Professor George Wilber, sociology department, will moderate the programs respectively.

In its fourth year at OU, the panel is "a group of students composed of a Jew, a Catholic, a Protestant, an American colored person," as defined in the brochure recently sent by the Panel to various organizations. Its moderator is a member of the faculty group which sponsors it.

An open discussion of the racial and religious differences and similarities of American society is presented in each of the Panel's appearances. "To develop mutual respect and better understanding among Americans whose racial, religious and cultural backgrounds are different" is stated to be the purpose.

Sponsored by 14 faculty members, the group performs at no charge for churches, schools, clubs and any other group interested in promoting the understanding of mankind.

Among the active students in the organization are Jean Bednar, Becky Chartier, Ron Clausen, Barbara Davis, Al Fellman, Tom Mason, Carolyn Nevins, Sandra Ruben and Ernestine Starks.

Two New Courses Added to Series

OU's Correspondence Department has announced the addition of two new courses in the Knowledge for Living series.

Dr. Ralph Wardle, head of the English department, will teach "An Introduction to Profitable Reading." "Exploring the Modern American Novel" is the title of Miss Ellen Lord's new course. Miss Lord is University librarian.

Both courses are no-examination, non-credit courses planned for persons who wish to enrich their lives, but not necessarily earn college credit.

The fee for each course is $12 and includes registration, study materials and tuition.

LITTLE ARNOLD

1954 Revenue Code Eases Students' Tax

Employed full time students will find less budget-bite when they file 1954 Income Tax Returns.

The Internal Revenue Code for 1954 states that full time students who work may claim themselves exempt on their own income tax return if they earn $600 or less. Parents, however, may continue to claim students as dependents if they provide over 50 per cent of their support. This is actually a double exemption.

For example: If the total cost of supporting a student is $2,400 and he earns $1,100 his parents may claim him since they supply over half of his support, $1,300. This student should also claim himself.

Scholarships at regular schools

We Agree with Smart

In Lexington, Ky., Miss Elizabeth A. Smart, legislative director of the Women's Temperance Union, accused the brewing industry of fostering misleading advertising.

Miss Smart told the Temperance Union convention that facts refute the myth, promoted by the beer industry, that beer is not intoxicating. Unidentified OU students are willing to back Miss Smart.

NYU Faculty Allows Unlimited Senior Skips

High-ranking senior students of the New York University College of Arts and Sciences are free to skip classes without penalty. In their new ruling, the faculty voted to allow unlimited absences from classes for seniors on the dean's list. The list comprises students with a scholastic average of 85 per cent or more.

Honor seniors must fulfill all other obligations, but "they will be allowed to attend classes, at their own discretion."

or colleges don't count in figuring whether the parent contributes more than half the students support. Suppose the total cost of supporting a full time student is $2,400 but he has a scholarship amounting to $600. The total of his other living expenses is $1,800, $800 of which he earns himself. The parent in this case contributes $1,000 and may claim the exemption since he contributes over half of $1,800. ($2,400 minus $600).

All employed students should make sure that their withholding exemption papers are changed to read one exemption in order to take advantage of the new law.

OUWI Members Plan Sox Dance

OUWI members will sponsor a sox dance Febr. 24 after the Omaha-Creighton basketball game in the University Fieldhouse.

Barbara Day is chairman of the dance. Assisting her will be OUWI officers and members of the representative council. No admission will be charged. There will be a mass OUWI meeting Febr. 2 to discuss plans for the dance and the OUWI state convention.

Gibbs School Gives Award

Two national scholarships for college girls are being offered for 1955-1956 by the Katherine Gibbs School. They consist of full tuition for the secretarial training course, plus a cash award of $500.

Winners are chosen by the Scholarship Committee on the basis of academic record, personal and character qualifications, financial need, university recommendation, and potentialities for business success.

Students interested in these awards may obtain full information from the dean or the placement office.

An' Here We Go . . .

George Goebel, of recent TV fame and probably fortune, is enjoying real popularity on OU's campus. "And that's the best kind."

"Dirty-bird" students constantly repeat the small phrases for which Goebel is famous. Male students have given up the wolf whistle in favor of "An' there she goes, an' here I go," when they see an attractive female.

Professors might adopt Goebel's "And YOU listen" and get good results.

OU's Williams Composes Song

OU Instructors In Symphony

Two music professors have been "plying their trade" in their leisure hours. The pair is Robert Gaskill, band director, and Dr. James Peterson, head of the music department, who play in the Omaha Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Dr. Richard Duncan.

This is the second year with the symphony for both professors. However, Dr. Peterson also played in the old Omaha Symphony under Joseph Littau and Rodolph Ganz. Dr. Peterson is principle violinist while Gaskill plays first French horn.

Dr. Peterson said, "I consider the Omaha Symphony an outstanding civic activity. Mr. Gaskill and I are proud to be associated with it and along with the work we have a lot of fun too."

Everyone's days may be numbered—but some people live as if they were endless.

An Engineering department professor who feels that there should be more singing around campus especially at athletic events, has written a song.

Sylvester Williams has composed a song which he hopes will bring about more singing at athletic events.

This song is to be sung to the tune of "Bring the Wagon Home."

"We'll sing the praise of Omaha U

Omaha University
Our school is great, our team is strong,
Let no one ere deny.

So sing the praise of Omaha U and fly her colors on high.

We win each game for the glory of her name and our love for Omaha U.

We go to college at Omaha U
at the Gateway to the West
Our spirit right, our courage great

We do our work with zest
So we sing the praise of Omaha U

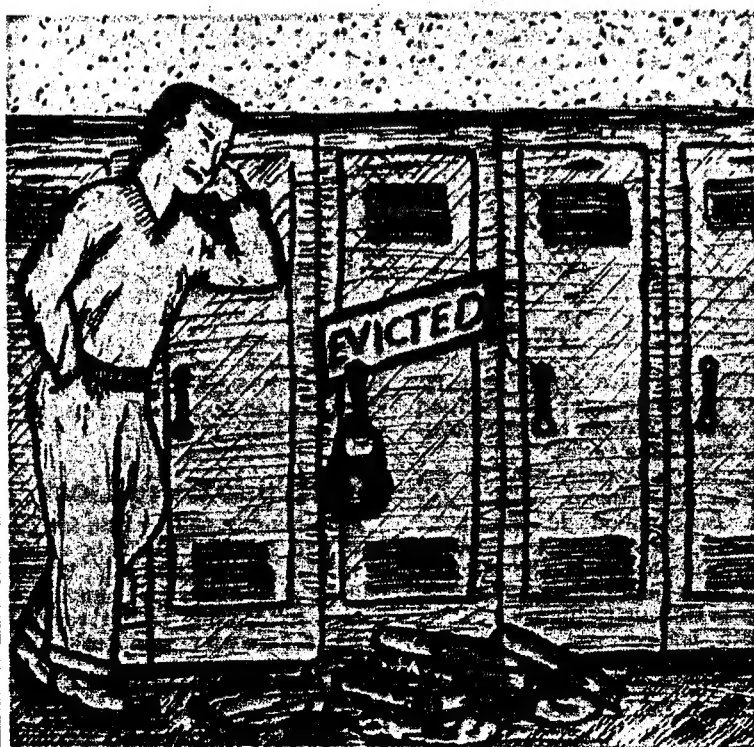

As we march toward our degree

May nothing in our grades ever change

Our love for Omaha U

Indians To Tackle Kansans Tomorrow

By Marvin Lincoln

Omaha University's hot-cold basketballers will attempt to improve a mediocre record when they square off against Kansas State Teachers on the Fieldhouse court tomorrow night.

The Indians, whose cage fortunes have followed an irregular course, are in for a struggle against the small Pittsburgh, Kans., college, according to head basketball mentor Virgil Yelkin.

Indians Lack Height

"Kansas Teachers always has an outstanding club. It is a high scoring outfit, and frequently a source of trouble for teams in this area," explained Yelkin.

The Gorillas, a member of the Kansas College Conference, compiled a 14-7 record last season. The squad of 20 includes all but five cagers over the 6 ft. mark, including a 6ft. 7 in. center.

Coach Yelkin described a lack of height as the primary Omaha U. weakness. He added that OU's speed and ball handling helps offset this defect.

Yelkin stated that lack of reserve strength has also been a handicap to the Indians. He reported that Indian ranks will be strengthened with the eligibility of Papoose Don Sirles Febr. 1.

Yelkin was optimistic about his team's chances against the rugged Kansas State five, but added that they will have to be up for the Gorillas.

Team Improving

"The team has shown potential and over-all improvement. Morale was down after the Creighton defeat and the Indians weren't ready for the Colorado game," viewed Yelkin.

After tomorrow night's Kansas game the Indians will have ten games remaining on their playing schedule. Seven of the games will be on the home court, while the remaining three are on the road.

Indians Drop Two; Creighton, Colorado

OU cagers came within three points of a long-sought goal last Thursday night, a court victory over neighboring Creighton U. The Bluejays edged the Indians 61-59 after Coach Virgil Yelkin's charges led most of the game.

Meade Sparks

Main Bob Mackie sparked the West Dodge attack with 17 points. High point man for Creighton, Bob Gibson, countered with 15.

Successful free throws by G. A. Sullivan put Creighton ahead 48-46 with 11:55 to play. The Indians came back to even matters 50-50.

In 22 seconds remaining, Bob Forberg stepped to the free throw line for Creighton. Forberg sank his first shot, missing number two. His conversion was the last score for either team.

Red Shinrock and Don Meade fouled out during the last half. Bluejay Eddie Cole also took the trip to the bench after setting a new four-year Creighton scoring record.

In Capt. Cole's college total of 100 points, four ahead of the record.

Omaha U. cagers have failed to beat Creighton in 14 tries. Their next chance at the Bluejay jinx will come Febr. 24 at the Indian Fieldhouse.

Drop Road Game

Rugged play by Omaha U. netted a 94-71 win for Greeley, Colo., Teachers last Saturday night.

Bob Mackie led the Indian scoring parade with 17 points. Colorado ace, Keith Edwards, garnered 22 for Greeley Teachers.

The 23-point drubbing was the worst absorbed by OU this season. Their record now stands at 6-6.

Intramural Action Halts for Exams

The Intramural sports program will begin a two-week break today for exams with activities resuming next semester.

Mural Head Ralph Pettit described this year's program as successful. He added that interest lagged during Tangerine Bowl festivities, but has built up again in nearly all sports.

Three major sports, football, basketball and bowling, were offered in the first semester bill. A rugged Pawnee eleven swept through the three-week football season undefeated to capture the pigskin crown.

Bowling league competition was launched in November with the loop's ten teams playing a double round-robin. ISA, last year's champ, currently is leading the circuit by a margin of four games over its nearest opponent.

The Independents have won 16 and lost five games to date, while Theta Chi, Lambda Chi and Pawnees share the runner-up spot with 12 victories and nine setbacks each.

Basketball began its visit on the Intramural horizon in December as the league's eight squads squared off in the single round-robin. ROTC is leading the pack with an undefeated mark in four starts.

Future sports on tap for the mural scene include a singles ping-pong tourney, softball, volleyball, badminton, track and golf.

Indians Versatile Off, On Gridiron

The undefeated University of Omaha Indians are as versatile off the gridiron as they are on. The Tangerine Bowl winners boast not only several class and club officers, but a solid academic record.

Tannahill President

Halfback Jerry Tannahill, now serving his third year on the Student Council, is the 1954 president of that governing body.

Harry Johnson, number one Indian center, who served as president of his junior class last year, was tapped last week for Omicron Delta Kappa, national men's honorary leadership fraternity.

P. E. Club Officers

Three players hold offices in the Men's Physical Education Club. Quarterback Arnold Smith is president, Center Milt Hearn and Fullback Emil Radik are treasurer and secretary respectively.

On the academic side, Bill Engelhardt holds a spot in the upper 35 per cent of his class, and several men are close to having a "B" average.

It is next to impossible to make a man see the light if he is blind to his own interests.

OU Riflemen Better Record

Omaha University's rifle team, described as one of the best in OU history, has compiled a 7-2 record in this season's competition.

M. Sgt. John Young, sponsor and coach of the team, said this year's boys are the best group he has ever coached. He added that the squad shows promise and has displayed a great deal of interest.

The Indian gunmen compete with teams in the Intercity League, a circuit composed of squads in Omaha and the surrounding area. They also participate in postal matches—firing on the home range and comparing scores with pre-matched distant schools.

Indian riflemen have won all three of their postal matches to date, defeating Washburn College, Oregon State and Tulsa University.

December contests provided three victories for the Omaha U. crew. Dec. 10 the Indians clipped Carson, Ia., and Dec. 13 the riflers nipped the Omaha Packers.

OU added a victory in a triangular meet Dec. 17 to its string. Entrants included South Dakota State, Nebraska and Omaha U.

The Indian shooters are looking forward to an overnight jaunt Febr. 18 to South Dakota to participate in a six-team meet there, Sgt. Young reported.

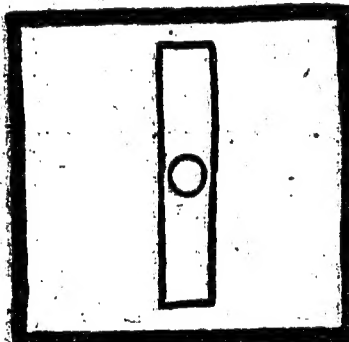

Sgt. Young said that any ROTC cadet interested in shooting for the Indians should report to his office.

Greeks To Crown King Satan VII At Alpha Xi 'Devil Dance' Friday

The coronation of King Satan VII will take place Friday evening during intermission ceremonies at the annual All-Greek Alpha Xi Delta Devil Dance. A special skit, patterned after the Ak-Sar-Ben coronation activities, will be presented in King Satan VII's honor.

Judy Rogers, chancellor, will announce King Satan and the other members of his realm. Also part of the intermission entertainment will be the donning of the traditional suit of red longies by the winner.

The Kidd-Irwin band will play for the informal dance which will be given from 9 to 12 midnight at the Carter Lake Club.

Marilyn Herbes, overall chairman for the dance, announced the candidates who will compete for King Satan. They are Don Anderson, Dick Bailey, Dick Bennett, Bill Steck and Jim Vickery. Greek cards will serve for admission and one vote per couple for King Satan.

Assisting Miss Herbes on committees are Marlene Hoffmann and Mary Little, skit; Marcia Miller, publicity and Janet Simonson, decoration.

Bail Thanks Bowl Backers

Approximately 450 persons attended the official Tangerine Bowl Thank You party Saturday in the Auditorium. Dean Don Pfisterer said, "We feel it was a huge success, and would like to make it an annual affair."

The party was given by President Milo Bail to officially recognize the financial backers whose contributions made it possible for the large number of students to attend the Tangerine Bowl.

Bruce Linton, speech instructor, showed his films which included football practice sessions, pre-game activities, after the game celebration, and other pictures of Orlando, Fla.

All the donors were introduced and publicly recognized.

The football team was introduced by Coach Lloyd Cardwell. Also introduced were Miss Omaha, Pat Kavan; the Tangerine Princess, Jackie Pedersen and the cheerleaders.

IFC Schedules Rush Feb. 21-25

"All OU men interested in becoming members of a fraternity should sign their names in the Dean of Student Personnel Office between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. Febr. 1 through 4," announced Sam Anzalone, president of Inter-fraternity Council.

Two weeks later, Febr. 21 through 25 will be the actual rush week. At this time, each of the five fraternities will choose their prospective members from the list of persons who have previously signed. Each person asked to join must be accompanied by one officer and one member of the particular fraternity concerned. Pledges will be taken from 1 to 5 p. m. during this week. All persons must pay a fee of $2 upon pledging.

Initiation of new members of the organization will be sometime this month.

Radio-TV Club Invites Inspection of KWOU

The Radio-TV Club is giving a faculty open house and coffee hour from 1 to 3:30 p. m. Febr. 23 to promote interest and support for OU's student radio station, KWOU. Students are invited to inspect the radio station from 1 to 3:30 p. m. Febr. 24.

Sewing Coeds Model Results Of Semester's Clothing Class

"Cottons with Credit" was the title of the fashion show held last Tuesday. Twenty-one members of the beginning clothing classes modeled outfits for faculty members during the noon hour.

The dresses were sewn in connection with classroom requirements set by Miss Sally Garretson, clothing instructor.

Styles of cottons ranged from tailored golfers to frilly summer dresses, and were the second project of the semester for the girls. Janet Winslow, sophomore home economics major, was over-all manager under the direction of Miss Garretson.

The models were: Nadine Breslow, Darlene Buckingham, Jean Carter, Peggy Cochran, Shirley Decker, Mary Louise Dreyer, Betty Egbert, Suzette Esrada, Dorsyl Freels, Julia Jensen, and Gail Johnson.

Other models were: Dorothy Johnson, Gayle Martin, Claudia Olsen, Jo Smart, Janet Steven, Marilyn Stolley, Liz Vukelle, Bev Wead, and Joyce Wright.
